The Hound of the Baskervilles

by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle

Upon the ground around the body were the footprints of a gigantic hound! When Sir Charles Baskerville is found dead, his face distorted with shock and horror, Sherlock Holmes and Dr Watson are faced with a sinister and difficult puzzle.

Whose body?

by Dorothy L. Sayers

The first of the Lord Peter Wimsey mysteries, in which the suave and witty gentleman foregoes a rare-book auction to investigate the presence of a bespectacled nude body in an architect's bathtub.

The Mystery at Dark Cedars

by Edith Lavell

16-year-old Mary Louise has a seemingly unquenchable curiosity. When strange things begin happening in the woods around the house of an elderly neighbor, Mary Louise finds herself following in the footsteps of her detective father.

Classic English Mystery and Detective Stories

by Julian Hawthorne

When you're in the mood for suspense, nothing delivers like a collection of mystery and detective stories. These tales are from the golden age of the genre.

The Mysterious Affair at Styles

by Agatha Christie

This classic manor-house mystery introduces Christie's much beloved character, the detective Hercule Poirot.

The Red House Mystery

by A. A. Milne

A classic whodunit set in an English country house. An eclectic cast of characters are gathered in the house when the owner's brother, recently arrived from Australia, is found murdered in a locked room.

The Mystery of 31 New Inn

by R. Austin Freeman

This classic detective tale shares a number of characteristics with the Sherlock Holmes series, but the duo of sleuth Dr. Thorndyke and his protege Christopher Jarvis are unique enough to earn readers' loyalty on their own merits.

Great Porter Square

by Benjamin Farjeon

A beguiling mystery that unfolds on a sprawling scale which calls to mind the work of other Victorian novelists such as Charles Dickens. Packed with plot twists that are revealed at a leisurely pace, it is an immersive reading experience that you won't soon forget.
