Go tell it on the mountain

by James Baldwin

While his family struggles with guilt, bitterness, and spiritual issues, John Grimes experiences a religious conversion in the Temple of the Fire Baptised.

The awakening

by Kate Chopin

Over one long, languid summer Edna Pontellier, fettered by marriage and motherhood, begins to realise the true extent of her psychological, social and sexual confinement and its devastating consequences for her future.

Pride & prejudice

by Jane Austen

Spirited Elizabeth Bennet matches wits and wiles with the arrogant Mr. Darcy in an entertaining portrait of matrimonial rites and rivalries in Regency England.

The god of small things

by Arundhati Roy

A novel of dark foreboding and family tragedy that won the prestigious Booker Prize traces the decline of one family in Southern India in the late sixties, which begins with an episode of forbidden love.

Howards End

by E. M. Forster

Three families from different levels of society become intertwined: the rich capitalists, the intellectual bourgeoisie and the struggling poor. A masterful discussion of changing social class-consciousness.

Beloved

by Toni Morrison

Sethe, an escaped slave living in post-Civil War Ohio with her daughter and mother-in-law, is haunted persistently by the ghost of the dead baby girl whom she sacrificed, in this Pulitzer Prize-winning novel by Nobel Laureate Morrison.

Native son

by Richard Wright

Traces the fall of a young black man in 1930s Chicago as his life loses all hope of redemption after he kills a white woman.

Things fall apart

by Chinua Achebe

A classic novel about the confrontation of African tribal life with colonial rule tells the tragic story of a warrior whose manly, fearless exterior conceals bewilderment, fear, and anger at the breakdown of his society.
