Redeployment

by Phil Klay

A collection of short stories by a former Marine captain and Iraq veteran focuses on the complexities of life for soldiers on the front lines and after, exploring themes ranging from brutality and faith to guilt and survival.

The frozen hours: a novel of the Korean War

by Jeff Shaara

A clash between a North Korean invading army in 1950 South Korea and a U.S. defense force is challenged by overwhelmingly brutal weather conditions in a high-action account of the Battle of Chosin Reservoir.

The commodore

by Peter T. Deutermann

Assigned to take over the Allies' losing battle for control of the Solomon Islands, maverick Vice Adm. Halsey appoints Harmon Wolf, a misfit known for his aggressive tactics, to launch a campaign that changes their lives, their careers and the fates of their ships.

Fives and twenty-fives

by Michael Pitre

Fives and twenty-fives mark the measure of a marine's life in the road repair platoon. Their mission lacks the glory of the infantry, but in a war where every pothole contains a hidden bomb, road repair brings its own danger.

Matterhorn: a novel of the Vietnam War

by Karl Marlantes

Lt. Waino Mellas and his fellow Marines venture into the mountain jungle of Vietnam as boys and fight their way into manhood, meeting not only external obstacles but also those between each other, including racial tension, competing ambitions and underhanded officers.

The march

by E. L. Doctorow

General Sherman's devastating march through Georgia and the Carolinas during the final years of the Civil War has a profound impact on the outcome of the war, in a richly textured, evocative historical novel that captures the full experience of the diverse characters caught up in the struggle.

The fort: a novel of the Revolutionary War

by Bernard Cornwell

Based on the Penobscot Expedition of the American Revolution, during which colonial ships and infantry were decimated by a small Scottish force.

The things they carried

by Tim O'Brien

Heroic young men carry the emotional weight of their lives to war in Vietnam in a patchwork account of a modern journey into the heart of darkness.
